Health Horizons, a Virginia Beach-based home care and medical equipment provider, is starting a school to help students prepare to pursue careers in health care.

Health Horizons Academy's classes are designed to ready students for the College Board's College-Level Examination Program tests, for which some higher-education institutes award college credit.

Subjects offered include anatomy and physiology, biology, math and sociology among others.

Tuition is $85 per credit hour. The first classes will convene in May.
